Introducing the fluid pendant light in a smaller size.

Audo Copenhagen launches the Dancing Pendant by Iskos-Berlin in a new, smaller size, 60 cm in diameter.

The playful statement lamp, inspired by a dancer's pleated skirt mid-twirl, perfectly encapsulates the design philosophy of storytelling. Crafted from recycled polyester felt, the tactile and sustainable material adds both visual appeal and functional benefits, absorbing sound when suspended above a table. Its expressive design, precise yet fluid in form, adds elegance to any space.

A new version of the original Dancing Pendant, Large, 90 cm diameter iteration, its scaled down size makes it well suited to even more settings – above a dining table to enhance conversations or installed in a professional environment to add character. The lamp fits a standard E27 bulb for ease of integration into an existing setup.

About the Designer

Founded in 2010 in Copenhagen by Aleksej Iskos and Boris Berlin, Iskos-Berlin is noted for its innovative approach to design, encompassing furniture, industrial and graphic design. Characterised by a blend of functionality and aesthetics, often incorporating playful and thought-provoking elements, designs underpin the Scandinavian design tradition of combining form and function. Today, the duo works independently, though their collaborative designs endure.
