Seattle and Amsterdam-based design Studio Graypants is proud to share Wick, a portable, rechargeable table lamp designed to be an effortless companion offering the coziness of candlelight with the ease and safety of an LED lamp. Wick is modern, tactile, fun to use, and offered in brass, graphite, and matte black and matte white.

Wick's energy-efficient design casts a warm glow in four brightness settings, including one emulating the soft flicker of candlelight. Simply tap the ring just below the fixture to change the settings. Depending on the brightness setting, the rechargeable fixture can last 7 to 70 hours on a single charge.

Weighted at its base, Wick is both stable and delicate; it invites picking up, and will have dinner guests asking to engage with it. Wick makes an ideal companion between the home and garden, from the bedside table to the kitchen, and is an excellent addition to any fine dining, indoors or out.
